

Recovery Dharma Global

Event Terms of Service

We're grateful you're joining us for a Recovery Dharma Global event. To help keep things clear and supportive, here are our simple terms:

1. Tickets and Registration

- Your ticket confirms your spot for the specific event listed.
- Tickets are non-transferable to other events, but you may transfer your ticket to another person for the same event—just let us know at conference@recoverydharma.org

2. Refunds

- Refunds are available up to 30 days before the event.
- No refunds will be issued within 30 days of the event, except if Recovery Dharma Global cancels the event.

3. Event Changes

- Occasionally, we may need to adjust the schedule, location, or presenters.
- If there are significant changes, we'll do our best to let you know promptly via the e-mail you registered with.

4. Community Conduct

- We strive to create a welcoming, respectful space for everyone.
- We ask all attendees to engage with kindness, compassion, and inclusivity.
- Anyone causing disruption or harm may be asked to leave without a refund.

5. Photography & Recording

- We may take photos or record portions of the event to share with our community.
- By attending, you consent to your image or voice being used in event photos, videos, or recordings.
- Laws regarding opt-in or opt-out for photography and recording vary per location. Guidelines will be released with registration for our events.

6. Personal Responsibility

- Please participate in a way that feels safe and supportive for you.
- Recovery Dharma Global is not responsible for personal injury, lost items, or other issues beyond our control.

7. Questions or Support

- If you have any concerns—about tickets, accessibility, or anything else—please reach out at conference@recoverydharma.org
